NOW LOOK OUT!

"Take care of yourself," say our friends. "I'll try to," we answer. We do take a little care, yet in spite of warm clothes, rubbers and mackintoshes, an army of people were bowled out by pneumonia and other lung and chest diseases last winter. They caught cold, neglected it, let it fix upon them, were torn by coughs, choked by inflammations and congestions, wasted by fever, tired out by pain and then gave up the fight. The hour you realize that you have a cold on the chest, place a Benson's Porous Plaster where the pain or oppression is felt. If you think two are needed make it two. No harm if you were covered with them. They act quickly and prevent the engorgment of blood in the organs. In this way—with ordinary caution as to exposure—you will break up the cold and avoid a serious sickness. No other applications, or any other form of treatment, will accomplish this as certainly and speedily. Benson's Plasters have a distinct and positive action and are curative to the highest degree. Use them with the same confidence for coughs, muscular rheumatism, the grip (back and chest) and all similar ailments. Women, who are chief sufferers from cold weather complaints, should keep these plasters always within reach. Get the genuine. All druggists, or we will prepay postage on any number ordered in the United States on receipt of 25c. each.

TWO QUEER LAKES.

The Boden Sea In Switzerland and Lake Wetter In Sweden.

Lake Wetter, one of the links in the waterway between Stockholm and Gothenburg, is a beautiful sheet of water lying in the center of a group of lofty hills and is noted for several remarkable peculiarities. There is no bottom at one place—at least, none has ever been found—and a belief widely prevails that it is connected by an underground passage with the Boden sea in Switzerland.

It is asserted that when there is a storm on one of these lakes the other is agitated, and that when the water in one is low the same conditions exist in the other. There is also a story that corpses in Swiss costume have come to the surface on Lake Wetter, and that bodies of men who have been drowned in Wetter have been recovered in the Boden sea. Other evidences are found in the occasional appearance of timber and vegetation that do not grow in this locality, but are common in Switzerland.

Scientific men, however, dispute the theory and ridicule the stories that are told by the peasants. It is admitted, however, by every one that the extraordinary phenomena of mirage have frequently been observed upon Lake Wetter, so much so as to attract the observations of the entire population for miles around, creating consternation among the ignorant peasants and awe and wonder among all thoughtful people. Marching armies of cavalry, infantry and artillery, with banners and glittering weapons, have appeared upon the surface of the lake, churches, palaces, castles and ships have been seen to rise from the water and remain in view for hours; caravans of camels have crossed from shore to shore within full view of multitudes of people in their right minds and without ordinary superstitions.—Chicago Herald.

How the Sea Retains Its Life.

One of the reasons formerly urged against the existence of living creatures in the abysses of the ocean was the supposed absence of oxygen there. It was deemed impossible that any considerable quantity of oxygen could exist at great depths, but recent discoveries have shown that there is no lack of oxygen even at the greatest depths. The explanation is that the cold water of the polar regions, charged with oxygen from the atmosphere, creeps along the bottom toward the equator from both poles, and thus carries a supply of oxygen over the whole vast floor of the oceans. The surface water moves toward the poles, and so a great system of circulation exists. "Were it not for this world circulation," says Professor C. C. Nutting, "it is altogether probable that the ocean would in time become too foul to sustain animal life, at least in its higher manifestations, and the sea, the mother of life, would itself be dead."

The "Motion" Was a Beggar.

Fulton one time went to see a perpetual motion machine, having a friend with him. After sitting and listening and looking intently for a few minutes Fulton's sensitively accurate ear and eye told him that the machinery showed the recurring alteration of comparative speed and slowness which always comes from a crank turned by hand.

In spite of the opposition of the enraged exhibitor, Fulton and his friend seized the machine, jerked away the table it stood on, found that a cord led through one leg and away under the floor, and following the track into the back yard they found the "motion," a venerable beggar seated on a stool munching away at a crust and grinding at a crank.

His Apology.

Once two gentlemen attended a temperance meeting and, on returning home by a dark and narrow lane, were thrown out of their conveyance. The incident was reported in the local paper and the account closed with the words, "Fortunately, both men were sober."

The editor received an angry letter from one of the gentlemen concerned, with a request for an apology. He was equal to the occasion. "In our account of the unfortunate accident to Messrs. ——," wrote the editor, "we stated that fortunately both men were sober. It appears this statement has given great offense. We therefore beg to withdraw it."

The Bell.

It is not alone the composition which determines the quality of a bell; very much depends upon its shape. Moreover, the proportions between its height, width and thickness are all to be taken into consideration. The dimensions, roughly stated, which are deemed to be the best for large bells are one-fifteenth of the diameter in thickness and twelve times the thickness in height.

THE HIGHEST CLIMB.

Mount Everest's Snow Capped Summit Has Never Been Reached.

If you thirst for something really new, if you want to do something which has never been done before, here is a chance for you. Climb Mount Everest. Its height is 29,002 feet, and you will not find anything in the nature of a paper bag on its snow capped summit, for the excursionist has not reached there yet.

The highest point to which man has so far climbed is 23,393 feet. This is the height of Aconcagua, the loftiest summit of the main cordillera of the Andes. This point was reached by the guide Mattias Zurbriggen and Mr. Vines, two members of the expedition that went out in 1897 under Mr. E. A. Fitzgerald. Before this the record was held by Sir William Martin Conway's expedition, which in 1892 climbed a mountain in the Karakaram Himalayas just 22,600 feet high.

Man having ascended to a height of 23,393 feet, the question to be now considered is whether he will ever be able to reach 29,000 feet.

We live at the bottom of an ocean of air, and our bodies are specially adapted for life at low levels; consequently when we are placed in unusual conditions, such as exist at great height, we are affected in various ways. Respiration becomes difficult, the circulation of the blood is altered, the heart is fatigued, "mountain sickness" is experienced, lassitude and exhaustion follow. On this subject Sir Martin Conway observes:

"On two occasions when I have been at 23,000 feet I have felt that I could have climber farther, and that if I could have slept there I might have climbed much farther. The problem of climbing Mount Everest will be confronted by two main difficulties—politics and finance. If the government of India would persuade the government of Nepal to let the Alpine club try, and if about $50,000 were forthcoming and a party, with an ample supply of porters, could devote two or three consecutive years to the attempt, there would be some chance of conquering the peak."—Pearson's Magazine.

Knew All About It.

A young ensign hesitatingly found his way into the admiral's cabin one day, and with a great deal of circumlocution and coughing finally let it be known that he loved the admiral's daughter, and would be the happiest man on earth if he had her parent's consent to marry her.

"No, sir!" thundered the admiral. "No, siree. Not now, anyhow. No pauper of an ensign is going to marry my daughter. You'd better wait until you are promoted and are able to support yourself before you think of marrying."

The young officer astounded the admiral by not retiring precipitately. He even ventured the reminder that the admiral himself had married when he was but an ensign, and that his married life had been a happy one.

"Red Bill" Kirkland glared at the presumptuous speaker for a moment and then thundered:

"I know I married when I was an ensign. My father-in-law supported me for several years, too, but I'll be hanged if yours will!"—New York Times.

The Inn In Literature.

The social importance of the inn in days of old is proved by the conspicuous position it holds in our fiction and poetry. The "Canterbury Tales" of Chaucer start from an inn, along with the motley company of pilgrims bound for St. Thomas' shrine, to whom the genius of the poet has given an immortal life. Its site and name, the Talbot or Tabard, still preserve the memory of the famous inn thus associated with our first great English poem. It was not, however, until the reign of Elizabeth that the tavern attained to a permanent place in literature, reflecting the important place it held in the daily life of the people.—All the Year Round.

Siberia's Vast Area.

In discussing Siberia, statements of dimension and distance confuse and bewilder rather than enlighten. It is of small advantage to dwell upon its area of over 4,900,000 square miles. If the forty-five states which compose the American Union were taken up and planted bodily in the midst of Siberia, they would be inclosed in every direction by a wide border of land. In this border territory all the countries of Europe except Russia could likewise be planted bodily and there would remain still unoccupied 300,000 square miles, an area twice the size of imperial Germany.—National Geographic Magazine.

A Seal's Narrow Escape.

A few years ago some fishermen were following their vocation off a harbor on the Maine coast when they observed a commotion on the surface and soon made out a seal leaping from the water as if followed by some enemy.

It came near the boat, swimming around it several times, and then, making a leap, the men saw that it was being chased by a large fish.

One of the fishermen dropped his line and, stepping into the bow, leaned over and held out his hands. To his amazement the seal immediately dashed toward him and, with his help, scrambled out of the water into the boat, just in time to escape the sharp weapon of a swordfish that darted by, its big eyes staring, probably in wonder at the method of escape, to its fishy intelligence it being evidently a case of out of the frying pan into the fire.

But the little seal apparently knew better, and it need not be said that its confidence was not misplaced, as the men were so pleased with its action in coming to them that they kept it as a pet, and the seal became a familiar object about the shore.

Mirth is an almost infallible sign of good health. A sick woman may force a smile or at times be moved to laughter. But when a woman is bubbling over with mirth and merriment she is surely a well woman.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has made thousands of melancholy and miserable women cheerful and happy, by curing the painful womanly diseases which undermine a woman's health and strength. It establishes regularity and so does away with monthly misery. It dries debilitating drains and so cures the cause of much womanly weakness. It heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures the bearing-down pains, which are such a source of suffering to sick women.

"I take great pleasure in recommending Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for female weakness," writes Mrs. Susannah Permenter, of Pauls Store, Shelby Co., Texas. "I was troubled with bearing-down pains in my back and hips for six years, and I wrote to Doctor Pierce for advice. I tried his 'Favorite Prescription' and six bottles cured me. I feel like a new person and I thank Dr. Pierce for my health. Life is a burden to any one without health. I have told a great many of my friends about the great medicine I took."

Gentlemen: I write this testimonial from a sense of duty, having tested the wonderful effect of your Asthmalene, for the cure of Asthma. My wife has been afflicted with spasmodic Asthma for the past 12 years. Having exhausted my own skill as well as many others, I chanced to see your sign upon your windows on 130th street, New York, I at once obtained a bottle of Asthmalene. My wife commenced taking it about the first of November. I very soon noticed a radical improvement. After taking one bottle her Asthma has disappeared and she is entirely free from all symptoms. I feel that I can consistently recommend the medicine to all who are afflicted with this distressing disease.
Yours respectfully, O. D. PHELPS, M. D.

THE Plaza has again been converted into a public pasture and cows and horses have been permitted to roam over it without let or hindrance. There is a city ordinance against this, and inasmuch as the Woman's Club only last week had the Plaza surveyed and staked out preliminary to beautifying it the pound ordinance ought to be enforced strictly to the letter. Why pass health and pound ordinances if they are not to be lived up to? The attention of the City Trustees is again called to this matter.

A NUMBER of our county exchanges are favoring the formation of a local Press Association. If the organization of such an association will enable the newspaper men of the county to get together and fix up a schedule of advertising rates and bind themselves to live up to such rates we can be counted in on the movement. The merchant, the doctor and the lawyer do business on a business basis. But the newspaper man, ever on the alert to crowd that despised rival contemporary to the wall, goes it blind and too often is pushed to the wall himself. Such, as a matter of fact, are not newspaper men—they are misfits and ought to be consigned to an asylum for fools to keep them out of the poorhouse.

THE cold snap still continues and what with the north winds of the past week it looks like a dry year for California in general. Here in Sonoma county, however, fair crops are always assured whether the season be a dry or a wet one. While a dry year may mean less than an average crop in Sonoma Valley it always means high prices for hay and grain and dairy produce. As a result the farmer and dairyman in this favored section of California actually make all kinds of money while the tillers of the soil in the southern part of the State in many instances are reduced to penury and want when overtaken by a drouth year. Old Sonoma has never been feased by a dry year. On the contrary, it means fair crops, high prices and prosperity for its farmers.

SMALL POX has broken out in Santa Rosa and our friend Hubert Slater, the natty and hustling city news editor of the Press Democrat, is down with a mild attack of the disease, is in quarantine and taking an enforced vacation. For the first time in his journalistic career Slater is enjoying a much-needod rest and is happy. Now comes Ed. Soules, the bright and overworked city scribe of the Petaluma Argus, who has not been so fortunate as Slater, praying in public print that he, too, may enjoy the small-pox and join his fellow scribe in a rest and recreation that seldom, if ever, comes to the weary newspaper man until he turns his toes up to the daisies and is engaged in shoveling coals for Old Nick to give his delinquent subscribers a roasting.

"TEARS and worn places in cloth fabrics can be darned most satisfactorily on the sewing machine," writes Maria Parloa, in the February Ladies' Home Journal. Thread the machine with silk or cotton of the same color as the fabric. Do not loosen the presser foot; have the stitch of modern length; begin the stitching a little beyond the damaged place. For places that are worn thin or frayed put in rows of stitching close together. Cross these with other rows of stitching; this will give a smooth, fine texture. Where the fabric is worn thin baste a piece of the same kind of goods on the wrong side, and darn over it. If there is none of the same material a piece of net or muslin will answer. If the colors in the fabric are mixed, have the upper thread of the machine of the most pronounced and the under thread of the minor color."

KICK A DOG

Kick a dog and he bites you. He bites you and you kick him. The more you kick the more he bites and the more he bites the more you kick. Each makes the other worse.

A thin body makes thin blood. Thin blood makes a thin body. Each makes the other worse. If there is going to be a change the help must come from outside.

Scott's Emulsion is the right help. It breaks up such a combination. First it sets the stomach right. Then it enriches the blood. That strengthens the body and it begins to grow new flesh.

A strong body makes rich blood and rich blood makes a strong body. Each makes the other better. This is the way Scott's Emulsion puts the thin body on its feet. Now it can get along by itself. No need of medicine.

A Quiet Wedding.

Miss Frances Brogan, a niece of Mrs. Stevens of Embarcadero, and Mr. P. Donohoe, a prominent stone mason of San Francisco, were married last Sunday. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Leahy in St. Francis' Church. The bridesmaid was Miss Margaret Stevens and Mr. Macabe of San Francisco was best man. After the ceremony the bridal party were driven to Embarcadero, where a sumptuous wedding dinner had been prepared at the home of the bride's aunt. After the usual good wishes and congratulations the young couple took took the afternoon Southern Pacific train for Sacramento, where they are spending their honeymoon. Mr. and Mrs. Donohoe will reside permanently in San Francisco.

In February, 1901, I took one bottle of Wine of Cardui and one package of Thedford's Black-Draught. I had been married fifteen years and had never given birth to a child until I took Wine of Cardui. Now I am mother of a fine baby girl which was born March 31, 1901. The baby weighs fourteen pounds and I feel as well as any person could feel. Now my home is happy and I never will be without Wine of Cardui in my house again. Mrs. J. W. C. SMITH.

A SUFFERING WIFE

Saved by the Suggestion of a Thoughtful Husband.

A man can rarely enter into a woman's sufferings when they are caused by diseases peculiarly feminine. Even when the character of the suffering is graphically described the man cannot appreciate the force of terms for which he has no equivalent in his experience. All he can do is to sympathize and suggest.

But when a woman hears the story of a woman's suffering every word has its just weight with her. Even more, she reads between the lines of the story and understands the unspeakable anguish and dread begotten of extreme nervousness and weakness. No woman can read the sorrowful story of suffering told below by Mrs. McAdoo, without heartfelt sympathy with her condition and heartfelt gratitude for her cure.

"It is with pleasure that I add my testimony to that of others, hoping it may induce others to avail themselves of the benefit of your invaluable medicines," writes Mrs. R. G. McAdoo, of Whiting, Mississippi County, Missouri. "Nearly a year ago I was taken down with a severe case of sickness. I suffered untold pains and misery such as no one can describe. Was confined to my bed most of the time. I could turn no way without it giving me pain. I was afflicted with falling of the uterus and ulceration. Had a bad drain all the time, and dragging-down pains through my back and hips; no appetite; bowels were costive; had smarting, itching and burning in the vagina all the time. My head and temples, back of my neck, shoulders and sides pained severely. Had kidney trouble, too. I ached all over; had cold feet and hands all the time. I suffered a great deal with pains in both sides, and much tenderness on pressing over the uterus. I was bloated terribly at times in bowels and limbs. I could not sleep; noise it seemed would kill me. I could not get on my feet alone. I cannot describe the constant pain to which I was subject every moment of my life. Was so reduced in flesh and strength that I could scarcely walk across the floor any of the time. I was treated by good doctors, but they just gave me something to ease me for a little while at a time. They said they could not cure me or do anything that would greatly benefit me. My husband suggested one day that I try some of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I asked him to get me a bottle of it. He gave me a tablespoonful, and it soon eased me. He then wrote to Dr. Pierce in regard to my case. We have one of the 'Common Sense Medical Advisers.' Dr. Pierce told my husband for me to take his 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Pleasant Pellets,' and also his 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Extract of Smart-Weed,' according to directions. I did so, and began to improve fast. If anyone doubts this give name and address. I will always recommend Dr. Pierce's medicines and his advice to all sufferers from diseases to which females are subject. He has been as kind as a father to me; advised me as a child. I believe if my husband had not written to Dr. Pierce last fall and commenced giving me his medicine, I would have died in a short time."

HUSBAND WISER THAN DOCTORS.

When the doctors pronounced his wife's case incurable, it was the husband who suggested the trial of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It was the prompt benefit derived from the use of "Favorite Prescription" that induced the husband to consult Dr. Pierce by letter on his wife's behalf. The result was a complete cure. This result commonly follows a fair and faithful trial of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It was made to cure womanly diseases and it does what it was made to do. It has cured hundreds of thousands of weak and sick women and cured them perfectly and permanently. A great number of these cures have been effected after doctors had pronounced the sufferer incurable and condemned her to a martyrdom of misery for the term of her natural life.

"Favorite Prescription" establishes regularity, dries the drains which weaken women, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It cures nervousness, headache, backache and other ills which have their cause in womanly diseases.

"I write to let you know the great benefit I have received from the use of your medicines," says Mrs. Sidney B. Oakes, of Whitmell, Pittsylvania Co., Va. "I am so grateful to you for your advice. When I commenced your medicines I had been treated by different doctors for three months or more, but would only receive partial relief for a short while and then would be worse than before their treatment. Was confined to my bed most of the time. At the time I commenced your treatment my left side was completely paralyzed. Had no appetite, no desire to eat anything; bowels costive all the time. Nerves were all unstrung, so I could not bear the least noise. I also suffered from diseased ovaries and female weakness. But thanks to my Maker and you, after following your advice, I am able to do all my washing, sewing and house work in general. I haven't had a spasm in two months. Left off medicines about one month ago. Didn't think it necessary to continue them longer. I have taken Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and 'Pleasant Pellets.'"

Every sick woman especially if suffering from disease of long standing is invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Sometimes a dealer tempted by the little more profit paid by less meritorious medicines will endeavor to foist on his customer a substitute for "Favorite Prescription." There is nothing just as good for weak and sick women as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

BIG AND GOOD.

"Little and good" the common saying runs, but that things may be both big and good is proven by Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. It is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps if the cloth-bound volume is desired or only 21 stamps for the book in paper covers. Address Dr. R. V. CITY OFFICIAL PAPER.

The Plaza Ceremony.

The ceremony on the Plaza this afternoon promises te be of great interest. It will probably be a day which will go down in history, for it marks the beginning of a transformation—from the Old Plaza to the New. In memory of pioneer days and especially as a memorial to General Vallejo, whose domain the Plaza originally was, a tree will be planted. This bit of ceremony will be followed by the breaking of ground which is to symbolize the new era in the history of the Plaza. Mrs. Lulu de Emparan will turn the first shovelfull of earth, Major E. R. Sherman of Oakland, the first City Clerk of Sonoma and a speaker rich in reminiscenses, will make the principal address of the afternoon, "Looking Backward;" Fred'k T. Duhring, master of ceremonies, will speak on Sonoma's future; Mrs. Emparan will sing a quaint little Spanish song, Guy Weems will give a horn solo and the school children will render several patriotic songs.

A large crowd is expected from valley and surrounding towns and John Boggs of Napa, the oldest Bear Flag survivor, has been invited to be present. The exercises will begin at 2 P. M.

SONOMA ELECTRIC LIGHT COMPANY.

Leases its Plant to W. T. Rutledge.

At a meeting of the directors of the Sonoma Electric Light Company held last Saturday morning it was decided to lease the plant for another year to W. T. Rutledge, who has been operating the plant the past few months for Fred. Harrison under last year's lease. Mr. Rutledge is a first-class electrical engineer and very popular with the patrons of the plant.

The company has expended over $250 the past year in improving the plant and expects to make other expenditures to improve its service the coming year.

The report that the Central California Gas and Electric Power Company is negotiating for the purchase of the plant is premature. The big power company may be considering the proposition and that is all.

Mr. Dutcher of the Central California is authority for the statement that his company intends to send a corps of surveyors up the valley to determine whether or not it will pay to absorb our local plant and extend their lighting and power systems from Sonoma to Glen Ellen via El Verano, Agua Caliente and Eldridge. As there can be no doubt on that score, the chances are that the big electric light and power company will be holding full sway up and down this valley in less than a year.

"Some time ago my daughter caught a severe cold. She complained of pains in her chest and had a bad cough. I gave her Chamberlain's Cough Remedy according to directions and in two days she was well and able to go to school. I have used this remedy in my family for the past seven years and have never known it to fail," says James Pendergast, merchant, Annato Bay, Jamaica, West India Islands. The pains in the chest indicated an approaching attack of pneumonia, which in this instance was undoubtedly warded off by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It counteracts any tendency of a cold toward pneumonia. Sold by F. Duhring. *

BOLD BURGLARS

Loot the Duhring Store.

A bold and daring burglary was committed right in the heart of town Thursday night or at an early hour yesterday morning.

Duhrings' store was entered through a second story rear window, a ladder being used by the burglars to reach the window sill. This window was protected by three horizontal bars of iron. They were wide enough apart, however, to permit a slender man to crawl between them, and access to everything in the store was then easy, the interior of the burglar-proof safe excepted.

There must have been at least two cracksmen engaged in the burglary—one keeping watch on the outside while the other plundered the store in which a light is kept burning. To use a crook's phrase "the glim was not doused," and the lamp was still burning when the store was opened in the morning by Mr. Duhring's clerks.

The thieves must have worked nervously and hurriedly. The till was tapped and $13 in coin secured, the burglars in their haste overlooking a $5 gold piece. The show cases came in for their attention also, and watches, jewelry, pistols, razors, pocket knives and many other portable articles were carried away.

The robbery was not discovered until yesterday morning when the store was opened at 6 o'clock.

A quantity of jewelry and other valuables were found in the rear yard of the store, the thieves evidently overlooking them in packing up their swag.

Strange to relate a box of trout hooks were also taken. These were evidently seized upon by the thieves in the hopes of preventing the officers from hooking and landing them.

One hundred dollars will cover the loss.

As we go to press Constable Ohm is hot on the trail of the offenders. He has a clew that will lead to their arrest and conviction without a doubt.

"SOME POTATOES."

Jacob Frideger Digs New Spuds in January.

It is not generally known but it is nevertheless a fact that many of the mountain ranches on the east side of the valley are seldom if ever visited by a frost. Among these farms is that of Jacob Frideger, located almost on the summit of the mountain range that divides Sonoma and Napa counties and located a few miles east of Glen Ellen. The Frideger ranch has in years past produced all kinds of garden truck for the family table almost all the year around owing to the mildness of the temperature in that range of mountains. There are few vegetables more susceptible to frost than potatoes and when these can be raised and dug in the open air in mid-winter it is proof positive that they have escaped immunity from a nipping. Notwithstanding the severity of the present winter Mr. Frideger has been cultivating a volunteer potato patch in an open field and one day this week he dug several sacks of the spuds. They are of the Peerless and Early Rose varieties and vary in size from a hen's egg to a goose egg. Mr. Frideger was in town Saturday and presented this office with a small sack of the tubers, and ye editor enjoyed the novelty of having new potatoes on his table in the dead of winter.

Get the Most Out of Your Food

You don't and can't if your stomach is weak. A weak stomach does not digest all that is ordinarily taken into it. It gets tired easily, and what it fails to digest is wasted.

Among the signs of a weak stomach are uneasiness after eating, fits of nervous headache, and disagreeable belching.

"I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla at different times for stomach troubles, and a run down condition of the system, and have been greatly benefited by its use. I would not be without it in my family. I am troubled especially in summer with weak stomach and nausea and find Hood's Sarsaparilla invaluable." E. B. HICKMAN, W. Chester, Pa.

George Laux was in town Thursday sporting a new sweater.

Mr. and Mrs. John Frediani of San Francisco were the guests of Frank Ferroggiaro last Sunday.

Misses Alice and Susie Kearney, accompanied by Miss Agnes Kearney, visited the Kearney ranch Sunday.

A crew of eight men are engaged in fencing in the depot grounds of the Southern Pacific Company in this place.

It is reported that A. Mauyeau, who recently purchased a small farm in the suburbs of town, will shortly start a steam laundry here.

The public school in this place was closed by the Trustees last Tuesday on account of the small pox, which has broken out in Santa Rosa.

A large number of party-loving people of this burg attended the bon-bon social given by the La Torres Bros. in Glen Ellen Saturday evening.

Fred. Carriger, Emile Lounibos and Peter Gouailhardou were hunting on the Jones ranch Wednesday. They had poor luck and report ducks scarce.

Harry Knight of Sonoma took the Southern Pacific train at this place Sunday for Keswick, after a visit of several weeks with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. R. Knight.

Frank Colonge, clerk of the Bellevue, killed a crane weighing ten pounds near here, one day this week. It was the largest bird of the species ever seen in this valley.

A weeping willow will be planted in El Verano's plaza in the near future by the Woman's Club of this place in honor of George H. Maxwell, the founder of this rising young city.

A local fisherman and a Sonoma sport caught two large salmon in Sonoma creek Monday night. The fish were full of spawn. This is what is decimating our trout streams and destroying fishing in this valley.

Frank Ferroggiaro has leased his ranch near here and will shortly leave for Mendocino county, where he will go into partnership with Wm. McGill, formerly of this place, who is the owner of an eight-acre hog ranch up that way.

Robert Poppe, attorney at law, and Prof. Will O. Hocker of Sonoma were in our town Sunday looking after their lot interests here which they will sell to Baron Spreckels as soon as his real estate holdings extend to this rising young city.

As John Bains, the owner of the old Kearney ranch, was about to take his daily drive towards Glen Ellen on Saturday last his horse ran away. It happened thusly: Mr. Baines stopped at Chauvet's winery on his way to that burg. He left his horse untied, and when ready to resume his journey the animal was non est. After a three-hours' search Mr. Baines discovered the equine browsing contentedly in Glen Ellen Park.

Miss Helen Riser, the eighteen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Riser of this place, met with a serious accident last Saturday night. Miss Riser went into a pasture field near her home to catch a horse. This she succeeded in doing without mishap. She then mounted the animal without saddle or bridle and attempted to ride him with only a rope round his neck. The horse became unmanageable and the young girl was thrown heavily to the ground, breaking her collar bone. Dr. Rich of Sonoma was summoned and set the broken bone and at this writing his patient is doing nicely.

YOU KNOW.

El Verano, Jan. 31, 1902.

Not Necessary to Re-Register for City Election.

City Attorney Poppe has filed a written opinion with the Trustees in regard to the re-registration puzzle. He holds that it is not necessary for voters already on the Great Register to re-register for the municipal election to be held in April. Those not registered, however, must see to it that their names are on the Great Register at least twenty-five days before the coming city election, else they will not be entitled to vote at that election. In regard to re-registering for the State and county election next fall, that is in the hands of the Board of Supervisors and if there is to be a re-registration that body will so declare in time to allow all voters to get in.

Send in your names for summer boarders.

The hay and grain fields down this way are looking well but need more rain.

Jack Kearns is assisting bridge-tender Peter Hein, who is suffering from rheumatism.

Mox Levy and H. H. Granice were the guests of Joe Keechler on the Jones ranch one day this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ignacio Kiser and family, tenants on the Poppe ranch for twelve or fifteen years, will shortly move to Napa county.

Mr. and Mrs. Anton Kiser came up from the metropolis Wednesday evening. They contemplate taking up their residence in this place in the near future.

The duck-shooting season closed Friday and the birds are quacking with glee. It is estimated that tons of shot has been scattered broadcast this season in the Sonoma marshes which is slowly but surely being converted into a lead mine.

The California Northwestern Railway Company will erect a new cottage at the Sonoma creek drawbridge for bridge tender Peter Hein. The lumber and a force of railway carpenters arrived on the ground Monday and work on the building commenced immediately. The new building will occupy a site nearer the track and on higher ground.

Fred. D. Spaulding churned down Sonoma creek at an early hour Sunday morning in his fine gasoline launch, the occasion being his last duck hunt of the season. He was on the cars Monday morning bound for his city home with all kinds of ducks. Fred is a true sportsman, and it goes without saying that every duck he has shot this season, and he has bagged his share of them, has averaged him about a dollar a-piece.

Henry Gundlach and Carl Bundschu came up from the city Saturday evening and made things lively for the ducks in the marshes on Sunday. They returned to the city Monday with a fine bag of cans and teal, which it is said they purchased at a bargain from a small boy they ran across in the tules. They deny the soft impeachment and say that they never do such things—that the instant they draw a bead on a duck he is a goner.

Have you heard about Mr. Robt. Hall's adventure down this way? No. Well, the other night, while returning from San Francisco on the cars he jumped off the train at Fairville station, thinking that the conductor had called out "Schellville." The night was a dark one and before Mr. Hall discovered his mistake the train had pulled out and left him standing on the platform of the lonely and deserted whistling station eight or ten miles from his destination. Mr. Hall, who is one of our most wealthy and successful orchardists, was not the least feased by the dilemma his mistake had placed him in but bravely faced the long stretch of track before him and footed it over the ties to Schellville, where fortunately his carriage and driver awaited him to convey him to his home. There he arrived quite late none the worse for his adventure.

A hunting party from Sonoma composed of John Wagnon, Fred. Poulson, Jas. Tate, Joseph Potter, Ed. Johannsen, Andrew Goess and Howard Knight passed through this place at an early hour last Saturday morning for the shores of San Pablo Bay on a goose hunt. Taking to row boats below Embarcadero the party pulled down Sonoma creek to the bay shore where the boats were made fast and the hunters scattered out in quest of game. During their absence the tide went out and left the boats high and dry on an island mud flat two miles from the receding waters. With unnavagable sloughs back of them, a two-mile mud flat in front of them and the afternoon almost gone their only recourse was to wait for a return of the tide or shove the boats two miles through the soft mud to deep water. The latter plan was adopted and eventually the hunters were afloat and reached the Tubbs' Island farm late in the evening where they camped in a hay barn, seven in a bed. The party returned to Sonoma the following day with eighteen geese and all broke up. By the hunt? Naw. It was Ed. Johannsen's and Andy Goess' snoring that did it.

The High School students sent a handsome inkstand pad and paper cutter to Benj. Weed this week in token of their esteem.

A PIOUS PARROT.

How He Learned a Sentence From a Rival Parrot.

If Coco meant the half of what he said, and was even a quarter as wise as he looked, he was a wonderful bird. I met him in Paris, where he lived with an old English lady, who spent her life in her own apartments between her maid and her parrot. Coco was thus her almost constant companion, her guide, counselor and friend. He had an easy flow of conversation, and said many funny and apt things that I have forgotten, but no one who saw and heard him at his devotions of a Sunday morning is likely to forget it. His mistress, being unable to attend the English chapel, read the service in her own room aloud, with Coco for congregation, for none ever exceeded the unction of his long drawn "amens" nor the contrite quaver of his "Good Lord, deliver us" in the litany, and when it came to "miserable sinners" he rolled up his eyes and nodded his old head in dismal approval.

It would have been unkind to smile during the performance, for Coco's feelings were sensitive, and, moreover, the old lady found comfort in the thought that he, perhaps, dimly understood. She told the following story in proof of his sagacity:

A friend came to visit her one day who also owned a parrot. The talk turned upon the rival birds, and the visitor instanced, in proof of her pet's powers, an intricate sentence that he had been taught to say. She repeated the sentence several times, mimicking the parrot's nasal voice. Coco, meanwhile, showed evidence of great excitement. He sidled hand over hand across the back of the sofa on which the visitor sat, puffing out his chest and holding his breath till all of his feathers stood on end. Something was on his mind, and he was straining to get it off. As the visitor rose to go his efforts culminated, and as she passed out of the door he screamed the sentence after her exactly as he had heard his rival quoted.—Forest and Stream.

Reversing the Alphabet.

Mrs. Wordsworth, the wife of the English poet laureate, was a woman universally beloved and distinguished for that personal beauty which caused her husband to describe her as "a phantom of delight."

She was a capital story teller, and related her anecdotes with a strong Westmorland accent which added much to the telling. One of her stories, and one in which she took great delight, went to illustrate the pride of county families.

Mr. H. and a Miss F. had been recently married. Both were from old north country families. They were going to their first dinner party after their marriage, and at the announcement of dinner the lady was about to enter the drawing room in advance of her husband when that pompous individual restrained her with a grand flourish and said:

"Stop, madam, if you please. The H.'s were always before the F.'s."

And thereupon the lady fell back in confusion and the proprieties of county family distinction were vindicated.—Youth's Companion.

The Social Rank of Cabinet Officers.

The social rank of each cabinet officer is reckoned according to his standing in the order of succession to the presidency, which is arranged according to the age of each executive department. The state department having been the first executive branch of the government created, the secretary of state is the official and social head of the cabinet and the first of its members to succeed to the presidency in the event of the death of both president and vice president. If the president, vice president and secretary of state were all to die before their successors had been appointed, the secretary of the treasury would become president, because his is the second oldest of the executive departments. This right to succession extends in turn to the secretary of war, attorney general, postmaster general, secretary of the navy and, lastly, to the secretary of the interior. This gradation thus indicates the social rank of each cabinet officer in his own circle.—Ladies' Home Journal.

French Snail Gardens.

As is well known, certain species of snails form a favorite dish with French gourmets, and the cultivation of these land mollusca is conducted on a large scale in the outlying suburbs of Paris, particularly in the department of Aube, where there are large snail gardens, with plantations of thyme, mint, parsley and chervil for the animals to feed on. When a Frenchman takes snails wild, he leaves them, if prudent, a few days to digest their last meal, for there is a current belief that they may be dangerous if they have recently fed on poisonous plants.—London Post.

Paderewski's Triumph.

An interesting story is told of the minuet, which is, perhaps, the most popular of all Paderewski's compositions. Paderewski, while a professor at the Conservatoire of Warsaw, was one evening at the house of the Polish poet, Swieztochowski, who expressed the opinion that no living composer could compare with Mozart in beauty and simplicity. At that moment Paderewski merely shrugged his shoulders, but the following evening he appeared and asked permission to play his host a little thing of Mozart's, which, perhaps, he did not know. He played the minuet. Swieztochowski was enraptured and cried triumphantly:

"Now, you must acknowledge that a piece like that could not have been written in our time."

"Well," said Paderewski quietly, "that happens to be a minuet composed by me."

Knew His Man.

A lawyer tells the following story concerning a client, something of a wag in his way, with whom he had long kept an account. When the latter was finally made up, the bill, mostly for trifling services, covered several yards of foolscap, as the items enumerated the most minute details.

When the client came around to settle, he refused to enter the office, but stood in the door and, holding one end of the bill, unrolled the voluminous document in the direction of his legal adviser, with the request that he receipt it.

"Come in," said the lawyer in his most cordial tones.

"Not much," replied the client. "You'd charge me rent if I did."

A Little Boy's Life Saved.

I have a few words to say regarding Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It saved my little boy's life and I feel that I cannot praise it enough. I bought a bottle of it from A. E. Steere of Goodwin, S. D., and when I got home with it the poor baby could hardly breathe. I gave the medicine as directed every ten minutes until he "threw up" and then I thought sure he was going to choke to death. We had to pull the phlegm out of his mouth in great long strings. I am positive that if I had not got that bottle of cough medicine my boy would not be on earth to-day.—Joel Demont, Inwood, Iowa. What Your Temperature Should Be.

The temperature of the body of a healthy person varies from about 97¾ to 98½ degrees F. It is lowest between 2 a. m. and 4 a. m., and highest in the afternoon between 4 p. m. and 6 p. m. The body may feel hot or cold at different times, but its actual temperature does not alter by as much as a single degree, whether a person in good health is at the hottest or coldest parts of the earth, eating or fasting, at rest or taking violent exercise.

Webster and the Clock.

Once while Daniel Webster was speaking in the senate on the subject of internal improvements the senate clock began to strike, but instead of striking twice at 2 p. m. it continued without cessation more than forty times.

All eyes were turned to the clock, and Mr. Webster remained silent until it had struck about twenty, when he thus appealed to the chair: "Mr. President, the clock is out of order! I have the floor!"

The Wonderful Spider.

The body of every spider contains four little masses, pierced with a multitude of holes (imperceptible to the naked eye), each hole permitting the passage of a single thread, all the threads, to the amount of 1,000 to each mass, join together when they come out and make the single thread with which the spider spins its web, so that what we call a spider's thread consists of more than 4,000 threads united.

Deep Freezing.

For many years scientists have been perplexed over the phenomenon of a certain well at Yakutsk, Siberia. As long ago as 1828 a Russian merchant began to sink this noted well, and after working on it for three years gave it up as a bad job, having at that time sunk it to a depth of thirty feet without getting through the frozen ground. He communicated these facts to the Russian Academy of Sciences, who sent men to take charge of the digging operation at the wonderful well.

These scientific gentlemen toiled away at their work for several years, but at last abandoned it when a depth of 382 feet had been reached, with the earth still frozen as hard as a rock. In 1844 the academy had the temperature of the soil at the sides of the well taken at various depths. From the data thus obtained they came to the startling conclusion that the ground was frozen to a depth exceeding 600 feet.

When People Rose Early.

In mediæval and modern Europe the prevailing practice down to the middle of the eighteenth century was to have three meals a day—that partaken of at midday, and not the evening one, being the principal. In those days all classes rose early, 4 a. m. being the usual hour, and one hour later breakfast was eaten. Twelve o'clock was the established dining hour. Supper, a less abundant repetition of dinner, followed in the evening.

HEAD NOISES CEASE IMMEDIATELY.

F. A. WERMAN, OF BALTIMORE, SAYS:

BALTIMORE, Md., March 30, 1901.

Gentlemen:—Being entirely cured of deafness, thanks to your treatment, I will now give you a full history of my case, to be used at your discretion.

About five years ago my right ear began to sing, and this kept on getting worse, until I lost my hearing in this ear entirely.

I underwent a treatment for catarrh, for three months, without any success, consulted a number of physicians, among others, the most eminent ear specialist of this city, who told me that only an operation could help me, and even that only temporarily, that the head noises would then cease, but the hearing in the affected ear would be lost forever.

I then saw your advertisement accidentally in a New York paper, and ordered your treatment. After I had used it only a few days according to your directions, the noises ceased, and to-day, after five weeks, my hearing in the diseased ear has been entirely restored. I thank you heartily and beg to remain Very truly yours,
